LAFAYETTE, La. (June 30, 2011) – Devin International has promoted Craig Latch to Deepwater Projects Coordinator, Gulf of Mexico, announced Joe Miller, Vice President of Sales and Marketing.

Latch will coordinate the initiation and execution of equipment orders for customers' projects from Devin International's Lafayette, La. office. He previously served as International Projects Coordinator for the company.

"Craig's proven track record of organizational and leadership skills makes him the perfect fit to fill this position," said Miller. "He has proven himself effective through consistent personal performance and continued growth for Devin."

Latch earned a bachelor's and a master's degree in communications/marketing from the University of Louisiana at Lafayette. He is a member of Young Professionals in Energy and the Intervention and Coiled Tubing Association

Founded in 1979, Devin International is a leading provider of specialty support equipment for coil tubing drilling and snubbing operations, and offers a large inventory of equipment rental tools such as lift frames, elevator bails, crossover subs and safety valves. Devin is a primary rental source for tools with premium thread connections, and offers patented surface test trees and motion compensation equipment.
